LO: To write a biography.

Today, I would like you to complete your biography. First, read through what you have written so far and check your grammar, spellings and punctuation. Are any parts repetitive? Have you varied your sentence openers? Is your writing interesting to read?

Check your writing is in past tense and formal throughout and that you haven't switched to a different tense or accidentally put some opinions in there.

Is each paragraph about something different and clearly organised in chronological order?

Now, complete your biography. Re-read your research and biography features to remind yourself what you have left to include. I can't wait to read your work.
