

If each of the small triangles is an equilateral triangle, the large triangle is also an equilateral triangle.

True

It is an equilateral triangle.

There are three small equilateral triangles on each side of the large triangle meaning that the sides on the large triangle are all the same length.