

Smiling is infectious,
you catch it like the flu.

When someone smiled
at me today, I started smiling too.

I passed around the corner,
and someone saw my grin.

When he smiled I realized,
I'd passed it on to him! I thought about that smile, then I realized it's worth.

A single smile just like mine,
could travel round the Earth!

- The Social Butterfly

SHARE your Smile by Passing this on!

Your task today is to make people smile, and what better way to do that than with your best jokes!

You may already know a lot of jokes or you might need to research online or in books to find some.

You can use the instructions over the page to make a folding book and publish your very own joke book. Make sure you include illustrations too.

Send me your best joke on Seesaw so that I can join in the fun too!

You can type it, photograph it or film or record yourself telling it.

BOOK BASE

Paula Beardell Krieg
<http://bookzooempa.wordpress.com>

Make a short booklet out of one book base or make many of these, then link them together to create an infinitely long book.

Begin with a rectangular piece of paper.

Fold in half, long side to long side.

Open.

Fold in half by folding back, short side to short side. This folding step feels a bit odd, since this second fold opposes the direction of the first fold

Cut top fold from one edge to the middle crease.

Fold in the front flap towards the front and the back flap to the back.

A finished single book base.

There are many other ways to make your book.
You might choose to hand write it or use a computer.
It's your choice.