LO: To create a paragraph for my non-chronological report.

(Please use a different date but the same LO for each day).

English

This half term, we have been learning about non-chronological reports which are factual texts that do not require a specific order. We have looked at many examples, analysed the features of one, been fact-finding and practised writing our introductions and one paragraph.

This week, I would like you to create your own! Each day, you will write one of the five paragraphs you planned out in full, making it interesting and exciting for the reader. Remember, your writing must flow well from point to point. Try not to just write fact after fact, expand on them and use interesting sentence openers!

In your packs, you should have a photocopy of all the content you have planned to include. Use this to help you and if you want to find out any more information, use the internet or books but make sure the facts seem like they are realistic and accurate!

By the end of the week, you should have a full non-chronological report. Remember, each paragraph needs to have a diagram with a caption to make it easier for the reader to understand and make your report look visually appealing. You can draw this yourself or find one online to stick in. Up to you - Enjoy!

If you need any help at all or would like to send me pictures of your amazing work, please email myself and Miss Senior. To those of you who received pens last week - I would love to see your handwriting!
